MOOD MUSIC—Tex Beneke and his orchestra, the former Glenn Miller band, is the star attraction of this year's Junior Prom, April 2 and 3. Both Miller and Beneke arrangements of dance music will be featured, as well as two intermission programs.

Tex 'A la Miller' Beneke Orchestra Signed For Junior Prom Engagement

by Corene Martin - Universe Editorial Associate

Tex Beneke and his 15-piece orchestra, the former Glenn Miller band, will present their "music to the mood" at the Junior Prom, April 2 and 3 at the Fieldhouse.

Five years ago saxophone-playing Beneke took over Miller's baton after Miller was killed in a plane crash. Beneke was a part of the original Glenn Miller orchestra established in 1948, and drummer Gene Krupa recommended Beneke for the position.

At the present time Tex Beneke's orchestra makes movie shorts for MGM, Universal-International and RKO. Over ten million MGM records have been cut of Beneke's orchestra. Recent engagements filled by this group were at the Hotel Statler, New York; Hotel Sherman, Chicago, and the Palladium, Los Angeles.

Today Tex is recognized in popular music circles for his vocal renditions of "Ida," "Body and Soul," "Embraceable You" and others. Some current orchestral hit are: "In the Mood," "Tuxedo Junction," "Chattanooga Choo Choo," "St. Louis Blues March."

Wanted Miller Band

Texas-born Beneke said, "I wanted the kind of band that Glenn Miller had, and I realized it would be virtually impossible to duplicate the magnificent musical machine that Glenn had built. Therefore I decided to remain with him for my active lifetime." When Glenn Miller was killed, Mrs. Miller and orchestra members urged Beneke to keep the band together in memory of the originator.

From the time Tex was nine years old he has participated in musical activities with a saxophone, clarinet and later vocally. The name "Tex" was tagged on high by Glenn Miller the first time he heard the Texas drawl. His real name is Gordon Beneke.

Ticket Price

Ticket price for this two-night formal affair is $3.50 per couple. A two-weeks selling period begins during registration for spring quarter. Booths will be set up at the Fieldhouse, Student Service Center, Joseph Smith and Physical Science buildings.

From chairmen are: Norman Jackson, Kanab, general; Suzanne Narkaus, Placerville, Calif., coat checking; Pat Rossiter, Helena, Mont., invitations; Dee Jacobs, Garden, publicity; Wayne Shute, Alta., Canada, cleanup; Roger Sant, Los Angeles, Calif., business manager; Colette Green, Lethbridge, Alta, Canada, assembly; Bill Memos, Provo, decorations; Dale Laub, Tokyo, Japan, parking; Gay Peters, Palo Alto, Calif., refreshments; Carol Dunford, Provo, programs; Lloyd George, Las Vegas, Nev., tickets.

After Wyoming Game . . .

'Bibler Bounce 'Readied For Smith, Social Halls

by Owen T. Jamison - Universe Staff Writer

Brigham Young University students will get their first look at 1954's editions of Snarf, Worthal, and Freda, Friday night during the Bibler Bounce, the annual Universe sponsored sport dance.

The Bounce will begin immediately following the Wyoming basketball game, and will be held in both the Social Hall and the Joseph Smith ballroom.

LMOC Intermission

According to Dave Forsyth, Universe editor and general chairman of the dance, students will get a look at some unique decorations, plus an intermission program prepared by the Student Program Bureau. Built around the Little Man On Campus cartoons, drawn by Dick Bibler, the dance will be highlighted by the presentation of Professor Snarf, Worthal, and Freda.

Selection of these three will be guided by a studentbody vote in Thursday's studentbody assembly. Balloting will be secret and winners will be announced during the dance Friday night.

Campaigning has been spirited during the week, but according to inside sources, several candidates seem to have an edge in student opinion. Especially spirited has been the Snarf contest, where the issue is still too clouded to see a definite trend.

Late Dancing

Dancing will continue until 12 midnight and admission will be 75c a couple. Tickets are now on sale in both the Joseph Smith and Science building booths.

Candidates for honors include R. L. Smith, Owen Rich, Galen Caldwell, Henry Nicholes, Charles Plah, and Garth Jones for Prof. Snarf. Dick Miller, Devon Stanfield, George Sukiasian, Clyde McKissick, Jack Whipple, and Kirk Hart will compete for LMOC honors, and Diane Carmen, Ann Taylor, Anne Cullimore, Vernadeen Jones, Mary Dawson, and Nalda Black will vie for the right to be called Freda.

"I'm taking Freda to the Bibler Bounce."

Student Assembly Features 'Big Show'

"The Big Show," which played to a crowd of 5,000 people in the fieldhouse Monday night, will be presented for the studentbody at Thursday's assembly.

The program includes a 60-voice chorus, a 20-piece orchestra, and featured performances by Anne Cullimore, Tom Stone, Howard Ruff, and the Worsley sisters. Bud Stone is the director of the production.

Group Desires Soldier Names

"Help us remember former Brigham Young University students who are now in the service" is the plea of the Campus Branch Serviceman's Committee.

A drive is now on to obtain the names and addresses of all BYU students now in the service, so that a monthly letter may be sent to them with the news of University happenings and projects.

Cards to be filled out for each serviceman are available on signs in the Joseph Smith lobby and the Physical Science building.

Serviceman's committee members are: Carl Anderson, Pocatello, Ida., chairman; Clair Rogers, St. George, advertising; Conene Martin, Ogden, correspondent; LaJuan Holman, Pocatello, Ida., secretary; Myron Jorgensen, Kansas City, Kan., and Jim Lane, Carlin, Nev., members.

SHOULDER PATCH—Lt. Col Samuel Skousen shows the proper position for the new AFROTC shoulder patch to cadet Ken Pierce. The new patch, which will be worn by cadets of the BYU detachment was designed in a contest held among cadets last year

Newly Designed Shoulder Patch Accepted by Air Force Cadet Unit

Cadets of the Brigham Young University AFROTC detachment will soon be wearing a new shoulder patch, the result of a contest conducted last year among AFROTC members.

Designer of the winning patch is Bert Taylor, a junior from Provo. His winning design was submitted last year, and has just been received by the bookstore for distribution.

The patch, which will be mandatory for all advanced and dual enrolled cadets, is to be worn one-half inch below the top seam on the left arm. Cost is 35c, although men having commutation uniforms will be allowed a 15c discount after next Monday. Cadets purchasing the patch before Monday will pay the full price.

Vienna University Offers Classes At Vacation Site

An opportunity for summer study in a setting of a mountain lake vacation site is available to students when the University of Vienna opens its summer session at Schloss Traunsee, Gmunden, Austria on July 26.

Courses will be taught in English and will include beginning and advanced German and a number of courses in liberal arts, law, and political science.

Full particulars will be sent upon request from the Institute of Interditional Education, 1 East 67th Street, New York 21, N.Y.

Rates for the summer course, which ends Sept. 5, amount to $200. Some scholarships are available. Applications for admission must be filed not later than May 1.

Sunday Concert

concert of the year on campus for each of the well-known singing groups.

The Madrigal Singers, consisting of twenty-six carefully selected voices, have programmed three groups of songs; the first, sacred music, followed by a selection of "Madrigals," a sixteenth-century type composition from which the organization takes its name, and concluding with a group of Folk Songs.

The A Cappella Choir, comprised of sixty-nine voices also selected by audition, will perform works of two Utah composers; LeRoy Robertson's setting of the Lord's Prayer, and an arrangement of the favorite LDS Hymn, "Come, Come Ye Saints," by BYU's Crawford Gates. Of unusual interest will be the song of tonal colorings, "Vox Celestes," in which the message of the song is through beauty of sound only, rather than word meanings.

Two selections by F. Melius Christiansen, and "Holy Radiant Light" by the Russian composer, Gretchaninoff are also programmed by the Choir as well as a Negro spiritual, "Sometimes I feel like a Motherless Child," arranged by Linda Worsley, student-composer who is a member of the A Cappella Choir, and "A Vision of Peace" by Jean Berger with text taken from Isiah.

Honors Taken By Students In Forensics

Brigham Young University students took four first place honors and tied for first place in debate at the Annual Junior College speech meet at the University of Utah last weekend, according to Dr. J. LaVar Bateman, forensic director.

BYU tied with University of Utah for first place in debate. Both schools have three undefeated teams. Those receiving no losses from BYU are Walter Webb, Winston-Salem, N.C., and Albert Sconberg, Bountiful. Floyd Brown, Alhambra, Calif., and Rex Lee, St. Johns, Ariz., Carma Jackson, Sandy, and Carolyn Davis, Salt Lake City.

Albert Sconberg and Rex Lee received the trophy for first place in extemp. speaking, both of them receiving a superior rating. The extemp. topic was "American Civil Liberties." The contestants drew three topics, selected one, and then spoke for seven minutes after 30 minutes preparation.

John Varner, Denver, received first place in impromptu. Paul Nuttal, Pacific Grove, Calif., tied for second place. The participants were assigned a topic on the Eisenhower administration, given one minute to think, and then speak for five minutes.

Glen Harmon, Berkeley, Calif., was awarded the first place trophy in radio. Alan Thomander, Maplewood, N.J., received a superior rating in discussion and tied with two other contestants for first place.

Albert Sconberg was awarded a trophy for being the most outstanding participant from BYU.

New Radio Show Featured on KBYU

An unusual type of radio program will be presented Thursday night at 6 p.m. on KBYU when "Music with the Profs" will be heard.

Dr. Harold I. Hansen, popular professor of speech will assume the duties of a disc jockey for the show's opening broadcast Thursday night.

The program is the first of a series on which a different faculty member each week will choose, spin, and chat about the records he likes.

Fellowships Open Now

A $750 fellowship for members of Alpha Lambda Delta graduating in the last three years will be awarded in June. The graduate fellowship must be administered in any college or university where there is a chapter of Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women scholastic society.

Members must have maintained the Alpha Lambda Delta scholastic average throughout their college career.

SOLO CELLIST—Joseph Schuster, noted for his musical transcription for cello presentation, joins with Carl Fuerstner, pianist, in a Monday evening concert at the Provo Tabernacle.

Opera Cover Contest Winner Announced Today by Workshop

Catherine Nielson, Ephraim, was named today as winner of the 1954 Cover Contest sponsored by Opera Workshop.

Miss Nielson will be awarded a prize of $10 and her design will appear on the cover of th souvenir programs for "La Traviata" during its presentations in March.

The winning artist is a junior transfer from Snow College. She is an elementary education major and has done much art work.

According to Dr. Don L. Earl, opera director, the cover contest this year was "very close" and the judges had a difficult decision to make. Dr. Earl stated that the cover this year will feature a different type of art than that used in previous years.

Judges in the contest were Dr. Earl, Dr. Gerrit deJong, dean of the College of Fine Arts, Dr. John R. Halliday, Music Department chairman, and Prof. B. F. Larson and Prof. Roman Andrus

Outstanding Faculty Chosen To Teach Summer Quarter

Faculty for this year's summer session, according to Professor Ariel S. Balid, dean of Brigham Young University's Summer School, promises to be one of the best. Each year, outstanding men of different fields are chosen to join the BYU Summer School faculty for the purpose of enriching the summer program.

This year, among the visiting faculty members will be Dr. J. C. Moffitt, NEA vice president, and Dr. Willard E. Givens, former NEA executive secretary. Both are internationally known educators.

Many Degrees

Dr. Moffitt received his B.S. and M.S. from BYU and his Ph.D from the University of Chicago. He has served as a teacher, a principal and a director of research in public schools. For the past seventeen years he has been superintendent of Provo City schools and he is an author of books and many articles and periodicals.

Dr. Givens received a B.A. degree from Indiana University, where he also worked for his Ph.D. degree. Dr. Givens has served as president of California Teacher's Association, a member of the American Youth Commission and the American Council of Education, and as state director of education in both California and Hawaii for two years each.

These two men are examples of the faculty that will be at the BYU during the summer session. Students who are anticipating attendance at Summer School will be interested to know that all departments will be enriched with experts such as these, according to Dr. Balid.

Applications Accepted For Therapy Courses

Applications from women college graduates for an 18-month Occupational Therapy course are now being accepted by the Department of the Army.

She will be commissioned an officer either reserve or regular, in the Women's Medical Specialist Corps. Further details may be obtained from Mrs. Lillian Booth, dean of women. Applications will be accepted until April 15.

JUNIOR PROM WEAR

News Note—White dinner jackets, black tuxes, dark suits and ROTC uniforms will be the accepted dress for men at the Junior Prom, administration officials recently announced.

The campus of Brigham Young University is not the place for discrimination. The Church to which the vast majority of the students belong deplores discrimination for any reason, and both the administration and responsible students are interested in seeing it abolished.

In striving to eliminate this evil, however, it is necessary that we maintain a proper balance between discrimination and its other extreme, regimentation. The time must never come when the desire to achieve, or the recognition of cultural niceties becomes subjected to a movement to place everyone on the same plane. Students at this university should learn not only how to speak and think, but also how to move comfortably and confidently in society after graduation.

In short, we feel that learning how to dress is one of education's musts and society's requisites. While it is only right that students who can't afford tuxes should be allowed to wear the alternatives and enjoy themselves—we feel that formal dress should be encouraged, rather than discouraged as is now the case.

Color Is Really Here To Stay; Ditto For Fried Chicken, Pop

by Veno

Friends have been looking at us patronizingly and indulgently since we began prognosticating the future of American (and world) printing trends — we strongly suspect they thought we'd lost our marbles—and after catching up on a few of the latest developments in the printing field, we began to think maybe we had.

Color is really here to stay! Most papers are now making arrangements to incorporate R.O.P. (run of paper) printing in their daily press-runs. Advertisers are color conscious to the nth degree. Furniture advertisers are taking the lead, using the device to show prospective customers how the items look together, and how they might fit in with the customer's decor.

Three-D Trends

Three-dee came to life with a vengeance this month in the current issue of "Sponsor," TV-Radio magazine, which incorporated a gatefold-spring mechanism, causing a cut-out of Red Skelton to literally "jump" at the reader. (We predicted this sort of thing last quarter, but did not anticipate its imminence.)

But "you ain't heard nothing yet." Just recently a group of printers discovered, how to laminate paper so it would take and hold a fixed impression. As a result, they are now printing phonograph records in all speeds: 78, 45, 33 r.p.m., right on the page—one merely punches out the record from the advertisement, places it on his own turntable, and listens to an auditory advertising message. The advertisement, which cannot be printed on regular presses yet, is inserted into newspapers similarly to the "miracloth" ads that appeared four or five years ago in Salt Lake City papers.

Ad Film Strips

We thought we'd heard everything, now—but we won't be surprised to learn that someone has devised a way to include film strips in an ad so that the reader may remove it—insert it in a projector, punch out a record and place it on his phonograph; follow the instructions on a printed page—done in perfumed ink (another device used some years ago in Salt Lake papers) and sit back to enjoy all five of his senses at the same time.

Actually the possibilities of this latest development not only stagger the imagination, but almost cause it to fall all over itself.

Imagine, for instance, an advertisement of country-fried chicken—printed in delicious golden-brown ink containing a scent of fresh-fried chicken, while at the same time you are listening to the accompanying "printed" record which emits sound effects of sizzling, the clink of knives and forks, smacking lips, and perhaps the satisfied moans of supposedly fried-chicken-eaters.

Enticing Soft Drinks

Or, suppose, it's an ad for bottled soft drinks. While you look at a picture, printed in color with an accompanying flavor-scent—you listen to a record or a soothing voice assuring you of its goodness; in the background are the soft gurgles of liquid being poured from a bottle the clink of ice-cubes in a glass, and the comfortable "aahh" sighing of a pleased partaker.

Yes, the possibilities are unlimited—constrained only by the imaginations of men—not by the machines they use, or the media they employ. Advertising and reading of the future should, and well may be, a delightful, surprising experience.

Especially if they carry it over into my botany text book.

Eisenhower's Statements Rather Rash

by Arthur Hardy

During his campaign for the presidency, Dwight Eisenhower made a rash statement to the effect that when he got in the White House, government spending would be reduced and the budget balanced in jig time.

Mr. Truman, then in the White House and knowing more about the job, had one answer to such talk. It sounded something like "hogwash."

From here, it appears that time has proven Mr. Truman to be correct, for the budget that President Eisenhower recently submitted to congress calls for a deficit. The planned deficit will be 2.9 billion dollars in the next fiscal year—a reduction of only 350 million dollars from the present year's deficit of 3.3 billion dollars.

Small Achievement

This doesn't seem much of an achievement, even though the Republicans have done a notable job of chopping at federal spending. Instead of spending 69.9 billion dollars as last year, the government will only spend 65.5 billion dollars this coming year. Most of this cut was made in the Defense Department by reducing the number of men in the armed forces from 3,300,000 to 3,000,000, and by cutting the Army 4 billion dollars. The reason that the deficit remains near the same is that while spending fell 5.4 billion, the government's income from taxes will drop 5.0 billion.

Teaching . . .

Dear Editor,

We, the past, present, and future students of Professor R. L. Smith had our fun in last Tuesday's Universe with the cartoon which was placed there. It was our means of calling attention to a man responsible for the vast majority of our school work. In another way, it was our tribute to a man whom we can never hope to repay for all that he has done for us.

He is not content to rely on past knowledge and little preparation for his classes. Rather, he has worked harder than any of us in our search for knowledge. Hard as his classes are, we take all of his classes in order to experience the wealth of knowledge which he possesses.

Many of you do not know him. We appeal to you to aid us in placing him as "SNARF" in the current campaign. Whether or not this is a tribute might be disputed, but we certainly intend it to be to a man we have grown to love and admire.

Students of Prof. Smith

Sitting . . .

Dear Editor,

With the recent installation of additional seating, the Field House, it is said, will accommodate 11,000 persons. It appears, however, that there are still not enough seats near the basketball floor; moreover, many really choice seats are reserved by faculty members before the games, particularly in the DD section. This procedure is manifestly unfair. Everyone should have an equal chance to get good seats.

Since the Wyoming and Colorado A&M games will attract over-capacity crowds, the seating problem should be faced now. Rather than allowing the DD section to be indiscriminately given over to the faculty, those in charge should reserve a new section for them. Perhaps no one has thought of the very excellent unused floor space at the west end of the building—specifically, the concrete landing just above the west entrance, against the wall. This area is conveniently near the exits and spacious enough to accommodate the entire faculty. If this space were used and bleachers set up on the track at the north and south ends of the floor, the Field House could seat 13,000 persons. I am sure that our benign and innocuous faculty would modestly comply with this obviously just and satisfying arrangement. Even though the faculty would not be able to see the games, they at least could show their loyalty t competitive athletics at BYU.

Explaining . . .

Dear Editor,

In the last issue of the Ui verse an article was publish in the Letters to the Edit which we feel is extremely u fair. The article we refer to the criticism of Cosmo. If tl writer of the letter knew tl background of Cosmo and wh he is designed to do, perhaps would not be so critical.

Cosmo was the creation of student who had nothing but tl good of the University in min He was designed to stimula pep and good will at various at letics events, and although tl organization of his activities ma not be the best, we believe the have in a small way accomplishe a portion of what they set out do.

Cosmo is something new ar because he is something new tl people who work with him hay had to start from scratch. A time goes on and we learn fro experience we hope our attemp will become more successful.

We make no excuses for tl mistakes we have made, becaus although they were mistake they were done in good faith. W only hope that we are cognizai of our faults and willing t work for the necessary improv ments to make Cosmo one of ou best school traditions.

The Cosmo Committee,
Caren Cottam Jack Whittle

Udel Winkler

Opposing . . .

Dear Editor,

In answer to Calvin Kirby letter in the Feb. 23 Universe, w believe this is a university wher one can gain spiritually, inte lectually and at the some tim enjoy the social activities at ar offered. If the strong languag in the letter is an example, would seem that Mr. Kirb doesn't get much pleasure ou of life. We hope you wake u soon, Mr. Kirby, and see wha you are missing.

We would like to commen Cosmo for the enjoyment h has brought us through his ac tivities, and we would like to se him back next year.

We do, however, thing that hi activities should be limited t sports dances and games. It ha seemed to us that maybe ther have been times when he attend ed functions that were meant t be more serious in nature.

Branch of AAUW Is Organized By Campus Women

All senior women and all graduate women students are encouraged to become members of the American Association of University Women, Mrs. Lillian C. Booth, state AAUW vice-president in charge of membership, stated.

Four new branches of the AAUW have been organized in Utah recently and one other, Durfey, has transferred its bylaws to the national organization for acceptance. "Because of the opportunities offered college graduate women in AAUW the state officers are anxious to assist other localities in the state in becoming affiliated with AAUW," Mrs. Booth said.

The new branches are American Fork, Pleasant Grove, Tooele, and Spanish Fork, and are now carrying out a full program. Mrs. Booth also announced the American Ass'n. of University Women, college and university alumnae in thousands of communities are working together in a program that challenges their intelligence and makes use of their training—furthering their own horizons, helping to build better communities and taking action on vital international and international problems."

SOCIAL BRIEFS

by Gail Bringhurst - Universe Society Writer

Were you present in your pajamas, your jeans, tuxedo, or maybe high heels? If you were you may have been in attendance at the "come as you are" party held by NAUTILUS and ARGONAUT social units last Thursday. Approximately thirty couples braved the storm and enjoyed dancing and games under the direction of Bert Spendlove and Barbara Domarco at the Boat House.

NAUTILUS received from Commander Wilkinson of the USS Nautilus, a reply to our congratulatory letter expressing their desire to aid world peace. Sunday night, at a fireside at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wally Daco, Arthur Butler told of his experiences as a prisoner of the Japanese during World War II. Professor Harry Hodson of Australia, new faculty adviser for ARGONAUTS, was present with his wife.

Sunday evening the VAL HYRIC social unit sponsored a fireside with Jerry Foresing and Chad Hill showing slides of Europe. Out of tradition comes the pinning ceremony of presenting a red rose to the girl and singing the Sweetheart Song. Ta Gene Garrett and Noreen Peterson; Art Bliss and Claudia Shearer; Ron Green and Bebe Haven; Doug Snarr and Carol Stanger; Kent Taylor and Joyce Hunt, this ceremony was performed.

The monthly Genealogy Library excursion of the CENTRAL STATERS will be held this evening. Those wishing to attend meet in the J. S. Bixby at 5:30. 25 cents round trip is the cost.

An old fashioned polygamy party promises fun for all when ALPHA LAMBDA DELTA and PHI ETA SIGMA hold an exchange Monday, March 1, at 7 p.m. in the West Lounge of the Social Hall. Another in the current series of gay evenings will be presented Monday at MASK CLUB when RaNae Green reads "Claudia" at 7 p.m. in room 250 C. The meeting is open to everyone and admission is 10 cents or a Mask Club card.

Under the direction of the FRESHMAN STUDENT NURSING class officers: Davelin Ah Hook, president; Sharon Ihnen, vice president; and Chadley Ann Hill, secretary-treasurer; our first meeting will be held Thursday, Feb. 25, at 6:30 p.m. in 290 Science building, to discuss plans for convention delegates and a get-acquainted party.

CESTA TIE pledges that were overlooked last week are: Myrna Girnud, Paula Borget, Emma Lou Davis, Eleanor Pead, Hildred Nielson.

A mass meeting of all students, returned missionaries and friends of the CONFEDERACY (original Thirteen States) will be held in the Joseph Smith building, Saturday at 8:30 p.m. All loyal Southerners who are interested in the future welfare of the South should be in attendance. The AFIO MAI (Somoan) CLUB will meet Thursday, Feb. 25, at 7:30 p.m. in room 120 of the Social Hall. All members are urged to attend.

RAIN?—Not yet, but Jack Whittle, Provo, and Jo Overson, Pendleton, Ore., are outfitted in smart water-repellent attire to brave storms when the clouds burst forth for first Spring Shower.

Prepare for Spring Showers With Gay and Smart Apparel

by Fae Openshaw - Universe Society Writer

There is a different feeling in the atmosphere, and from the far away look on everyone's faces this past week, we are sure of one thing, that Spring is trying to make its entrance . . . . a little early this year. The time is now coming that the contagious Spring fever is fast spreading far and wide.

Spring isn't all sunshine though. It always brings with it sudden downpours of fresh rain. Spring rain makes the flowers grow, and we're in favor of that, but a girl's looks have never been known to thrive under water as she goes splashing through the puddles.

Defeat the Damp

There really isn't an excuse for rained looks now, because rain wear of all styles and colors are now on markets everywhere. Here are some bright ideas for looking smart during the rainy days ahead.

Become a fancy-umbrella fancier with a pretty umbrella that will keep you as dry as a "sensible" one. Make a point of the covering: a brilliant color, a gay print—or trick down a handsome handle in an unusual shape and have an original umbrella made. Protect your head and throat with a scarf matching your raincoat lining.

Pastels and Prints

A new way to wear color and be pretty under an umbrella is with a pale blue raincoat, lined in the same bright flower print as the head-wrapping material. These matching materials make a raincoat a creative costume. A pale pink, with a rose printed lining can give a pretty look in the rain.

It's easy to get the "shirt look" in rainy weather too. The new, slim striped cotton raincoat features large pockets and buttoned front. Many various colors can be found in a selection such as this.

Blazing white water-repellant flannel, the brightest (and newest) thing you can wear in the rain, is also a coat so elegant you'll wear it anywhere, any weather.

Featured for Fellows

We can't leave the fellows on campus out of the picture. Although they may not have so much trouble with straight locks dangling in their faces, they do need protective coverings.

Most popular on campus is the striking navy blue ROTC raincoat, but the belted, double-breasted gabardine in tans and browns is also a useful item for the wardrobe.

Diamond Jubilee

by Mary Alice Sauls — Universe Society Writer

Recent unusual spring weather has caused a rush of spring fever to spread over the campus, consequently many coeds are beaming over sparkling diamonds.

Planning a March wedding are Terry Smith, a Californian and Arlene Palmer, a Sophomore from Canada. Carnl Los members are congratulating two new members who are wearing diamonds. Audrey Heidelbaugh received a ring from Don Gashler who is now serving in the Navy. Also a new member Doris Hawker is making known her engagement to Darrell Mackay.

Cupid aided in bringing Nancy Hacking a special Valentine in the form of a diamond ring from serviceman Carl Markworth. Plans are underway for a June wedding.

At meeting last week O.S. Trovata members heard the exciting news concerning engagements of two members Marilyn Stapley and Marilyn Norton. Marilyn Stapley revealed a beautiful diamond from Gene Rasmussen, while Marilyn Norton told of exchanging Al Haskell's Bricker pin for a sparkling ring. Another surprise came from O.S.T. Sue Partridge, who came to school Monday wearing Spence Papworth's Bricker pin. Sue is serving as secretary of the Sophomore class this year.

Returned missionary Turf Terry and former student Sharlene Hill are announcing their engagement and plans for a wedding in the near future. Two former BYU students Sherrie Ahlstrom and John Hundley are now engaged and are waiting to make definite nuptial plans until John is released from the service. While at BYU John was a Tausig affiliate.

From San Francisco come the announcement of the marriage of Shari Simmons and Keith Oldroyd. Shari attended the BYU last year and while a freshman was a Cami Los charter member.

Fite Nite Fun . . .

Opening 'Fite Nite' Bouts Feature Flurry of TKO's

A flurry of technical knockouts featured Monday's and Tuesday's preliminary boxing bouts which will decide the contenders for the annual AMS "Fite Nite" to be held sometime in early March. The definite date has not been announced.

Highlighting the first two evenings' festivities was Famika Anae, a husky, well-conditioned Hawaiian heavyweight, who scored a third round TKO over Clarence Hulse. The latter ran out of gas after taking several terrific body punches. Hulse carried the fight to Anae most of the way.

TKO's came thick and heavy as the boys went all out to win. Mike Kohn stopped Mervin Cardon, Don Riggin TKO'd Lynn Brough, Don Bybee TKO'd Floyd Krey, Pat Hosman stopped Grant Southworth and Leroy Stickle won a TKO over Mua Sinapi.

Credit for the fine competitive "Fite Nite" event goes to Brigham Young University's new director of intramurals, Boyd Lake, who spent many long hours working out the schedule and setting things in motion for this fisticuff feast.

The referee of all boxing matches was BYU's boxing coach, Art Saxell. Mr. Saxell's quick judgment in stopping fights before the boys are badly hurt is a great asset to the competitors themselves.

The Boxing Association's new rules and scoring system will be followed throughout the "Fite Nite" preliminaries and finals.

The remainder of boxing and wrestling results:

Glance at Skyline Championship Race

Here is a brief look at what would have to transpire for Brigham Young to share the Skyline Conference championship:

Since the Cougars have already been beaten four times in league play, they can ill afford to drop another one. Wyoming, which sports an 8-3 mark, will have to lose at least one more (to BYU) for the Cougars to have a chance. Colorado A&M (10-1) must lose three in a row. If the Rams win just one of their three remaining games they will have cinched the league crown.

Brigham Young has four games left to play: Wyoming and Colorado A&M at Provo, New Mexico at Albuquerque and Denver at Denver.

Rams Battle Pokes

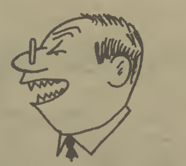

Colorado A&M and Wyoming play two games this weekend—Utah at Salt Lake City and BYU at Provo, trading opponents on alternate nights. Then the Rams and Cowboys must face each other on the Laramie floor on March 5 in the throatcutter that concludes conference play for both schools.

Announcement has not as yet been forthcoming from E. L. (Dick) Romney, Mountain States Athletic Conference commissioner, as to what would happen in the case of a two or three-way tie for first and second place.

Two Places Important

Both first and second places are important in the Skyline conference because the winner goes to the NCAA Western Regional playoffs in Corvallis, Ore., and the second place winner automatically receives a bid to the National Invitational Tournament in New York's Madison Square Garden.

COUGAR'S TALE

by Ed King

Much talked about of late is the All-Church Basketball Tournament that takes over the Fieldhouse from the 2-6 of March. Inasmuch as Brigham Young students are being urged to support this gigantic affair, here is an item that will perhaps be of interest to any fellow student fans.

When this year's tournament gets underway in the fieldhouse, BYU will be well represented. Dominated by BYU students, Provo's Ninth and Thirteenth wards cinched berths in the tourney last week.

While I am on the subject of Fieldhouse and fans, here is something else that should be aired. Several complaints have come to my attention regarding the present ticket distribution setup. I am not making an attempt to defend or condemn it, but here is a sketchy outline of the system, and how it will work this weekend, according to Floyd Taylor, BYU ticket manager, which I hope will in turn perhaps help the BYU student fan and his ever present ticket problem.

Sections EE and GG, located on the west side of the playing floor, are the middle sections and are numbered 1-20 in from each aisle. GG and DD are the outside sections, also on the west side, and are numbered from 1-20 from the aisle out. As the students receive their tickets at the door, they can, with the exceptions of rows 30-37, have their choice of any remaining seats. Rows 30-37 are reserved for sale to students wanting to sit with parents or guests who are not students.

I want to end this column with something that will perhaps prompt someone to say that I am all wet, but under the circumstances, I don't see how I could get wet. What I want to know is, "WHERE DOES THE LARGEST COLLEGE IN UTAH, OR THE CITY OF PROVO, KEEP ITS SWIMMING POOL?"

Cats Clash With Cowboys, Colags

Cougars to Face League Leaders In Friday and Saturday Battles

The chips are down in the 1954 Skyline Conference basketball race, and it's put up or shut up as far as Brigham Young is concerned.

Wyoming, second in the Skyline standings, blows into Provo Friday night, followed by league leading Colorado A&M Saturday night.

Friday night in the Fieldhouse, Brigham Young will be up against the Wyoming team that defeated the Cougars 63-47, two weeks ago in Laramie. Coach Ev Shelton's crew was slugged twice last week-end by Oklahoma City and St. Louis while BYU was splitting a pair with Utah.

JOE JUMPS—Little Joe Capua (6), Wyoming's fiery guard, hooks a pass under the arm of Brigham Young's Blaine Anderson (15) during recent Cowboy-Cougar clash at Laramie. BYU guard Van Burgess (4) prepares to cut in to block the pass while center Nick Mateljan (14) and another unidentified Cougar move in to help defend. BYU will be out to avenge their previous defeat at the hands of the Cowboys Friday night in the Fieldhouse.

Variable Lineup

Coach Shelton's starting lineup changes from game to game, but a probable five would be Ron Rivers and Bill Lange at forwards, Ed Huse at center, Joe Capua and Bill Sharp on the guard line. The Cowboys have a lot of bench strength in Bill McDonald, Nick Eliopulos, Charlie Wing, Jay Mulvehal, Jim Schell, and Bob Moore.

Rambling Rams

The league championship might already be in the hands of Colorado A&M when the Rams come to town Saturday night, depending on the outcome of their Friday fray with Utah. The Colags, who edged BYU, 77-76, in Fort Collins two weeks ago sport one big gun in long, lean center Dennis Steuhm. "Dennis the Menace" is currently pressing Dean Larsen for the Skyline scoring lead, although the latter's 29 and 19 point spurts against Utah last weekend surged the Cougar forward further ahead.

Steuhm will be flanked by Bob Betz and Jack Bryant at forwards, with Ron Caylor and Harold Kinard at the guard positions. Len Gregory, Gary Hibbard and Bill Bartran are the Aggies outstanding subs.

BYU Coach Stan Watts will probably start the regular five of Dean Larsen and Tom Karren, forwards; Nick Mateljan, center; Sherm Crump and Dave Lewis, guards; although a shake-up is highly possible because of the Cougars' jackadasical play against Utah last Saturday night.

Dukes On Top For 2nd Week

NEW YORK (AP) Duquesne's undefeated basketball team continued to lead in a battle of ballots with also unbeaten Kentucky for top national honors in this week's Associated Press poll.

The Dukes of Pittsburgh for the second straight week captured the No. 1 spot, with the Wildcats from Lexington not far behind.

Indiana, Western Kentucky, Oklahoma A&M, and Notre Dame follow the pacesetters in that order.

Textbook Department Appoints Student As Stockroom Head

Textbook department of Brigham Young University has advanced Bryant Brady to stockroom head, replacing Steve Buffo.

Neil McKnight, manager of Student's Supply Assn. reports Buffo is taking a position with a Salt Lake City paper manufacturing company. Brady has been employed in the bookstore as a part-time helper for the past three years.

Steve Buffo came to BYU in June of 1949 as full time help in the bookstore. Buffo had no high school education, but decided he would finish his schooling and studied on his own time, took tests equivalent to high school examinations, and with the exception of English, passed them.

Rotary Finals Scheduled

The winner of the annual Rotary oratorical contest will be selected tomorrow noon when the three finalists appear before the Provo Rotary club luncheon, according to Henry Heish, Rotary chairman.

Buffo then worked full time as stockroom head, taking college and high school English classes. At the same time he was raising a family and majoring in marketing.

Buffo expects to graduate at the end of summer by taking correspondence and night courses.

Grad Scholarships Are Being Offered

The Graduate School is now receiving applications for graduate scholarships for next year, according to Dr. Christen Jensen, acting dean of the Graduate School. These applications should be filed in the office of the Graduate School, 225 Physical Science building not later than April 1.

These scholarships are classified in three divisions. Class I is free tuition; class II is free tuition plus three hundred dollars cash; and class III is free tuition plus five hundred dollars cash.

Organ Enthusiasts Witness Concert By Harold Mueller

by Jessieme McQueen
Universe Music Critic

Organ enthusiasts spent a very listenable hour hearing our own magnificent instrument last Monday evening. Mr. Harold Mueller of the Shelby-Benlams Concert Management truly demonstrated his own fine talents in displaying the versatility of the Joseph Smith building organ.

The lightest melodic number Mr. Mueller played employed the ch'me stops on "Three Pieces for a Mechanical Clock" by Haydn. For further evidence of his remarkable style, Mr. Mueller presented a lilting contemporary by Flor Peeters entitled "Fantasy."

Mr. Mueller's audience was so delighted by his dexterity and skill that he was clapped back for three encores. His second extra number was most impressive in its fascinating foot requirements ably performed by Mr. Mueller.

Mr. Mueller supported the high standards of entertainment and enlightenment at Monday's lyceum presentation.

upset the proposed spending of our government, and maybe bring back the 9.4 billion dollar deficit of Mr. Truman's last year in office. It's not certain the budget will be balanced in 1956 as is now planned.

Getting federal spending under control (which President Eisenhower terms the significant between his administration and that of Mr. Truman) has proven to be harder than Candidate Eisenhower thought. And the end of the deficit is not yet.

Tryouts Set Monday For New Production

Tryouts will be held Monday for the forthcoming production, "The Skin of our Teeth," to be presented in April by the department of speech and dramatic arts. Dr. Preston R. Gledhill, director, announced tryout times as 4 and 8 p.m. in room 10 of the Speech Center.

Woman Is Named Night School Head

The appointment of Louise Beck Meyers to the post of Supervisor of Evening School at Brigham Young University has been announced by Dr. Lynn Hilton, assistant director of the Extension Division.

Mrs. Meyers will be in charge of compiling schedules, registering students and securing teachers for evening school courses.

She is a native of American Fork and graduated from Brigham University in 1951. While at BYU she majored in English and minored in speech.

Position On AMS Council Open To Senior or Junior

Male students at Brigham Young University wishing to serve on the AMS Council may appear for interview Friday between 3-5 p.m., it was announced today by Scott Partridge, AMS vice president.

The council is one man short following the resignation of Jay Lake, due to a mission call.

Mr. Partridge stressed the opportunities for activity available on the council, and stated that the positions open to either a junior or a senior man.

The interviews will be held in the student organizations room of the Student Service Center.
